EDITORIAL

IS THE BIRD DEAD?

Four months ago the Supreme court of the United States killed the N. R. A. unconstitutional. All of the President's efforts to keep the Blue Eagle flying met with failure when the N. R. A. was declared unconstitutional by the highest tribunal in the land. Accordingly, the N. R. A. is dead. The court ruled it so. It's high time to do away with the spoils payroll.

IT OUGHT TO BE DONE

The Times Virginian looks with favor upon the timely proposal to enlarge the state police force. It OUGHT TO BE DONE.

Lieutenant Colonel Garnett, commandant of John Q. Rhodes, in charge of safety patrol, is a tremendously assett and one of the major prizes of the force. He is always alert, well trained and ready to respond to emergency police calls as well as the routine of patrolling the highways.

A recent visit to the Old Dominion, President Roosevelt took especial pains to compliment our state's highway patrol system.

At the recent hold up of the York Union bank, it was the state highway police that did the most effective work, one of its members even giving his life in the line of duty.

That is a typical example of the spirit of our state police.

There should be an increased to 200 men, equipped with police radio and adequately paid, state senators Weaver, Hall and Burks have taken the leadership in promoting the measure. Methods for financing the expansion will be found. The highways must be patrolled. Crime and criminals must be run down. Accidents must be averted through the saving of life. Let's support right enforcement of driving regulations. The people of the state will support the next legislature to put across this program.

Nerves — Do they torture you by day? Keep you awake at night? What is it that keeps hospitals open and doctors busy? NERVES. What is it that makes your face wrinkled and makes you feel old? NERVES. Nine times out of ten it's NERVES that make you restless, worried, haggard.

Nerves — Do they make you Cranky, Blue—give you Nervous Indigestion, Nervous Headache? When nerves are over-taxed, you worry over trifles, find it hard to concentrate, can't sit still. Nerve Strain brings on Headache. Nervous people often suffer from Indigestion. There may be absolutely nothing wrong with the organs of digestion, but the Nerves are not on the job to make the organs do their work properly.

Nerves — Do they interefere with your work; ruin your pleasure; drive away your friends? You're cheating yourself and the man who pays you if you work when your NERVES are not normal. You can't have a good time when you are nervous. You can't make or keep friends when you are keyed up and irritable. You may excuse yourself, but to others you are just a plain crank.

AMUSEMENTS

Automobiles skidding perilously on dirt tracks, speedboats plunging into flames, football players pounding in the opposing lines, dishonesty and trickery in big moneyed sports, with a spirited romance, are the exciting ingredients of Paramount's the attraction at the Ias Theatre in Lynchburg on Sunday and Tuesday of next week, and promises to be one of the fastest moving pieces of entertainment shown in some weeks.

The story of "Superspeed" concerns itself with the struggles of Norman Foster, deep as an All American football player who refuses to capitalize on his gridiron laurels. He singlehandedly develops a combined supercharger and carburater which will benefit automobile manufacturers. However he is forced to undergo many hardships and risk his life if hazardous exploits before he achieves success.

Playing opposite Norman Foster who is likeable and convincing in his role, are Florence and Mary Carlisle.

One thrill follows another with breath taking rapidity in "Superspeed," which opens with an exciting football game and ends with a speedboat race filled with suspense and dramatic punches. If you are being kept on the edge of your seat by chills and thrills, "Superspeed" is the picture you've been waiting for.

The Paramount's greater new show season marches on. And with it comes more big hits truly suitable for the show place if Virginia.

Lavishly mounted, madcap comedy studded with the outstanding stars recruited from every division of the entertainment field, "The Big Broadcast of 1936" comes to you as the current attraction at the Paramount Theatre in Lynchburg and can be classed as entertainment of the highest order in the comedy and musical fields.

Not a dull moment is to be found in this sparkling, breezy, gala production which fairly exudes the highest talent from radio, stage and screen. For pur, fun and light comedy no better trio of comedians could be teamed together than Jack Oakie Burns and Allen and Lyda Roberti.

Specialties done by such superb entertainers as Amos & Andy, Bing Crosby, Ethel Merman, Bill Robinson, Ray Noble and his band, the Vienna Boys Choir, Ida Ray and her Melodears and many others help to make "The Big Broadcast" one of the most glamorous pieces of entertainment brought to the screen in a long time.

Monday and Tuesday the Para mount brings you an hour and a quarter of fun with those inimitable pair, Burns and Allen in "Here Comes Cookie," with Betty Furniss and a host of vaudeville favorites. And remember, Tuesday night at 11:30 P. M. Paramount will present the final show in the McGeehee's amateur show, bringing you the first prize winners of all the previous amateur shows.

If you tell a paren thabout the faults of his child made it down, you haven't corrected the faultes, you've lost a friend.

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanders, of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and could get no rest at all until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardui, I was better. I kept taking Cardui and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Cardui to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right."

CARDUI

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

RADIUM, JEKYLL AND HYDE AMONG METALS

Capable of Curing Disease and of Causing It.

Washington.—Radium, most precious of metals, an ounce of which is worth nearly as much as a ton of gold, recently has been brought to the fore again through new advances in its use in the treatment of disease.

"It's a silvery-white substance, which few people ever have seen, is a sort of Doctor Jekyll and Mr. Hyde among the metals," says the National Geographic society. "While its principal use is in the treatment of dreaded cancer, in many cases of which it is a savior of life, radium also is capable of causing cancers and a fatal form of anemia when not properly handled.

"Recently the large radium packet for treating cancer ever used in the United States was put to work at Bellevue hospital, New York city, continues the bulletin. 'It contains five grams of radium and is expected to be particularly useful in treating deep-seated cancers.

"It is estimated that there are about 250 grams of radium in the United States at present, nearly half of the total of one grams or approximately one and one-quarter pounds that has been produced inside world.

Worth Miften a Ounce.

"Radium first was produced from pitchblende ores of Bohemia after its discovery in 1898. Since then prospectors have found radium-bearing deposits in many parts of the world. The most recent important 'radium strike' was in the Great Bear lake district in the wilderness of northern Canada, farther north than the Yukon gold fields.

"So valuable is the ore that it is profitable to fly out his ore by airplane to civilization for refining. Today the world's principal sources of radium are the Great Bear lake deposits and mines in the Belgian Congo, Africa. There also are radium deposits in the United States, in Colorado and Utah. They are not rich enough to be worth working at present prices, but form a sort of radium reserve available in case other supplies are cut off.

"The value of radium is fabulous. It is worth about $1,000,000 per ounce at present prices. Gold is now valued at $35 per ounce in the United States, and platinum approximately the same. In small amounts radium may at times command a price of as much as $75 per milligram, the thousandth part of a gram. In past years its price has been much higher than now, reaching $125,000 per gram during the World war.

Used in Luminous Paint.

"Aside from the treatment of cancer, the chief use of radium is in luminous paint, used on watch and clock dials, for electric switches and keyholes, and in wartime, for gun sights and compass cards for use where lights would betray presence of troops.

"The radiations which make radium both useful in treating disease and dangerous when handled without protection, are caused by the explosion of atoms in the radium. Slowly radium is dissipating itself away by these explosions, though it takes from 1,690 to 2,500 years for half of a piece of radium to dissipate itself.

"The exploding atoms send out three different kinds of radiations or rays—alpha particles, positively charged traveling up to 12,000 miles per second; beta rays, negatively charged electrons traveling with almost the speed of light; and gamma rays, electro-magnetic waves which also travel nearly as fast as light.

"In treating diseases, an emanation or by-product of radium gently is used instead of the radium itself, because it is far more radioactive than radium. One of the most frequently used is radon, a gas which can be released from radium by heating or dissolving it. A very small quantity of radon is as radioactive as a large amount of radium. Radon can be produced without the original radium being scattered or lost."

Inscribed Terra Cotta Cones Back Up Testament

Washington.—New proof of the accuracy of the Old Testament as a historical record has been obtained by the Smithsonian institution.

The findings—three inscribed terra cotta cones found in a temple wall at Ur of the Chaldees—were memorial tablets buried to perpetuate the name of the king, Libit-Ishtar, fifth ruler of the Isin dynasty who reigned about 2075 B. C.

How your MONEY WORKS FOR YOU IN A Checking Account
When you put your money in a savings account you get interest on it. In a checking account you get service for it—and let the bank draw the interest. In return for this interest the bank gives you privileges worth far more to you than the interest itself.
When you maintain a balance commensurate with your use of your checking account privileges, the bank will be reimbursed for the expense of serving you. Otherwise, the bank may properly look to you to meet this expense.
